

THREE SORE FACTIONS.

THE WOMEN'S PATRIOTIC LEAGUE AT SWORD'S POINTS.

One of the Kickers Makes a Pertinent Suggestion to Commissioner James H. Blount.

Evening before last the Bulletin contained an innocent looking little advertisement, which announced that "all members of the Hawaiian Women's Patriotic League, wishing their names erased from the roll can do so within three days from date (April 18) by applying to the committee," etc. The Bulletin handled the matter in a very delicate and gingerly manner indeed, in its local column, as if it feared the public might discover that a somewhat unpatriotic quarrel was raging within the patriotic ranks of the feminine politicians.

The announcement made a few days ago, when the followers of Liliuokalani presented their memorial to Commissioner Blount, that the disturbing elements had been "fired out" and that harmony now reigned, seems hardly born out by the facts. The truth is that the feminine politicians have run their great patriotic scheme upon the snag that has wrecked so many parties and now threatens the latest Hawaiian movement, which heretofore has sailed over the bounding billows of enthusiasm.

Personal discord, otherwise known as "political kicking," has so disturbed the serenity of the women that they have split into three factions, and are now carrying on a fierce three-cornered fight that will end as is usual with the survival of the fittest. The notice quoted is virtually one to vacate issued by the Liliuokalani faction.

The fight began when the patriotic women began to draw up that famous memorial which the Bulletin published by mistake and regretted editorially afterwards. The question was, whose name shall be in the memorial, in case the improbable happens and the monarchy should, by some trick of fortune, be temporarily restored. "Liliuokalani!" shouted the old contingent of the royal parasites. "Kaiulani!" cried a full chorus of patriotic and office-holding half-whites. "Kapiolani!" vociferated the better native and half-white element, representing the minority, but in reality the only patriotic portion of the league.

The sweat and blood of battle now began to flow. Arion Hall daily resounded with patriotic wrath and personal discord, as the league fought over the political effigies of the ex-Queen, Miss Cleghorn and the Queen Dowager. Reporters were banished from the patriotic presence; the feminine politicians rolled up their sleeves for the final round that was to decide, for a time at least, which faction should rule the deliberations of the league. As before stated in the STAR the fray ended in the resignation of Mrs. Macfarlane, as president of the league. The combined forces of the Kapiolani and Kaiulani factions gave away before the more experienced political tactics of Liliuokalani's followers, and the ex-Queen's name was inserted in the memorial to Commissioner Blount, as the sole candidate for restoration under the monarchy.

But the opponents of the ex-Queen say the end has not yet come. The leaders of the two defeated factions have determined to carry the dispute to a final issue. They do not propose to be trapped into erasing their names from the league's roll as the crafty Liliuokalani proposes. They claim, with a great deal of justice, that they represent the more respectable and intelligent portion of the league and of the natives of the islands. They show a great deal of feeling in the matter and are especially chagrined that they should be beaten in their movement by the old Palace crowd.

"We do not deserve it, and the cause of native respectability and morality can not stand many setbacks of a similar nature," said one of the defeated leaders yesterday. "Commissioner Blount, however, is here to get the truth, and we trust he will thoroughly investigate how far the delegation who presented him with that memorial represents the better elements of Hawaiians. When it comes to a question of respectability," continued the lady, "it ought to be suggested to the United States Commissioner to make inquiries concerning that famous 'Ball of Twine' society, which existed under Kalakaua, and then compare notes with the present crowd who are presenting memorials to him in the name of the Hawaiian people."

HONOLULU HYGIENE.

The Board of Health Has an Important Conference.

The Board of Health met at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon with a full attendance. Questions of unusual importance were discussed, among which were: the arrival of a Japanese leper; the condition of the lepers in Molokai and Dr. Goto's new treatment of those unfortunate; and last but not least the sanitation of this city.

Of course the discussions took a wide range, as well they might and much information was secured from individual members who have been at work on special matters.

It was decided to make some very important improvements in the leper settlement, among them the thorough renovation of the public buildings, the better sanitation of the colony, and of individual residents, and the erection of a hospital for males. The future victualing of the lepers was also discussed with a view of bettering the service and securing more satisfactory results from the supplies furnished, all of which are of the best.

The board seems to have great confidence in Dr. Goto, believing that gentleman has a deep interest in his subject and confidence in the efficacy of his remedies.

As to the sanitation of Honolulu, an effort will be made to strictly enforce the regulations as to the disposition of garbage, the management of tenement and lodging houses, and the inspection of public victualers.

In conversation this afternoon, Mr. Reynolds, executive officer of the Board, said that the odorless excavator is constantly at work. He submitted to the STAR a report of its operations for the last month which shows that 57 loads of 810 gallons each were taken from the vaults and cesspools of the city in that time. "We intend keeping up this record," said the executive officer.

"The greatest trouble we have," he continued, "is with the Orientals who persist in disposing of their filth as they are wont at home—dumping it in the streets or sinking it beneath their habitations. True, there is less of this now than before, as the police department is working with the board and arrests follow detection; but Chinamen can never speak English when an officer is on their trail and it is very difficult to fasten anything on them as their countrymen are prone to silence."

Chinatown is in much better condition now than before the great fire of April 18, 1886—just seven years ago yesterday; then Chinatown was one huge vegetable market with the attending filth and garbage when everything reeked was dumped in the streets. Now the vegetable market is confined to Hotel street from Smith to Maunakea and down the latter street to a point past King, and then only on condition that the merchants along those streets personally answer for the cleaning up of all garbage and filth.

THE JAP WAS RETURNED.

THE NANIWA GIVES UP ITS CONVICT REFUGEE.

Diplomatic Correspondence Ends in the Delivery of the Prisoner.—He Resists Arrest.

In recognition of the request of the Hawaiian Provisional Government, the Japanese warship Naniwa, through instructions from the home authorities, landed on Hawaiian soil, this morning, the Japanese convict Imada Yosaku who escaped from his keepers on March 16th last, and by swimming to the Naniwa took refuge under his native flag.

Yosaku was convicted some months ago of the murder of a countryman at Waihee, Maui, and given a life sentence which he was serving at the time of his escape.

A protest was made to the Japanese Consulate at the convict's retention on the warship, the officers of which refused to deliver him to the Hawaiian police, but the protest was of no avail. Correspondence with the home government regarding the case was then taken up by our foreign office, that department demanding the convict's return, which, after some delay was acceded to at 10 o'clock this morning.

Police Captains Schlemmer and Juen disguised, were in waiting for the Naniwa's boat, and nabbed the Jap immediately he was landed on Dillingham's coal wharf. A scuffle ensued between the prisoner and his captors, whom he recognized, but the fellow was soon overpowered and brought to the Station house, to be delivered later to Captain Tripp, warden of Oahu Jail.

The Japanese marines who brought their countryman ashore sat in their boat interested spectators, and by their chattering and gesticulations were evidently disappointed that Yosaku had not an opportunity to run the gauntlet. The landing of the fellow at the coal wharf was an indication that the Japs were not particularly desirous of having their countryman apprehended.

Yosaku fought the officers all the way to jail and was roughly handled once or twice through self-defense, as through courtesy no handcuffs were taken, and the Jap realized the advantage of free hands and fought like a tiger for his liberty.

Justice Foster's Court.

There were a number of petty cases disposed of in Justice Foster's court this morning in addition to those specially noted elsewhere, while a half dozen others were continued.

The two Chinese caught early Monday morning on the Nuuanu Valley road in the act of smuggling opium to the interior, had their trial this morning in Justice Foster's court. One was discharged. The other pleaded guilty and was fined $150, which was paid by friends.

Ah Kwai, one of the trio of Chinamen arrested at the old Chinese theater for smoking opium, was fined $50 and costs this morning by Justice Foster, while his two companions were discharged for want of confidence.

Failed to Make a Case.

The three natives arrested for the alleged assault upon special policeman Hokea at Kanihiki, on the evening of the 17th, were tried this morning. The trial was an interesting one, but Hokea failed to make a case and the men were discharged.

New Japanese Inspector.

T. M. Datto has been appointed Japanese Inspector of Immigrants for the district of Hilo in place of S. Kimura, who has lately become engaged in private business.

Doesn't Believe It.

Consul-General Foggi says that he does not believe the Associated Press report about the seizure of the Pelew Islands, as such a movement would not be in accord with Japanese policy.

SEES A CHINESE PLAY.

BRONSON HOWARD AT MR. TYPHOON'S THEATER.

One of The Spectators of a Lively Domestic Comedy—Entertained by the Management.

Accompanied by members of the STAR force and escorted by Police Captain Juen, Bronson Howard, the great American playwright, visited the Chinese Theater last night. It was the first time he had ever seen a celestial company or a Chinese play and he spent over two hours in various parts of the house closely watching the queer proceedings.

The drama was quite easily followed by the "outside barbarians" present. Amusingly enough it was very "Frenchy" in its motive, so much so indeed that Mr. Howard ventured the belief that it would hardly pass muster with the Lord Chamberlain of England. A young wife with an elderly husband who comes home drunk a gay lothario who plays havoc with her heart and those of other females; a hired assassin and an irascible old father of one of the unfortunate women, were the principal characters in the performance.

Mr. Howard was visibly pleased with the smoothness with which the play ran along. "The acting is very good, indeed," he said, as one scene of rather sparkling comedy came to an end. "Some of the specialties are excellent, and the naturalness of the players surprises me. Besides what I can see myself the appearance of the Chinamen in the audience shows that the actors know their business. When you see that intent, interested look in the parquette, you may be sure that the people on the stage are artists."

During the evening the American playwright went twice behind the scenes and shook hands with the manager and his company. Mr. Typhoon, the plump and pleasing person who runs the theater, was the pink of courtesy to his visitors, and when he found that one of them wrote plays he could not do too much to express his sense of the honor shown him by the call. While Mr. Howard and his friends took in the drama, Mr. Typhoon had a table set in his business office with Chinese edibles and wine, to which his guests sat down shortly after ten o'clock. A sort of soup made of half a dozen ingredients, vermicelli being the principal one, was served in large bowls and a pungent sauce was handed round to flavor it with. Mr. Howard's party sat down to this dish, it must be confessed, with some trepidation, but found it very palatable indeed.

The visitors did not wait for the play to conclude as at half-past ten another celestial amour was in its initial stages and might last indefinitely. Before leaving the theater, however, Mr. Howard had a chance to look at some of the costly mantles and gowns in the property-room and examine an odd collection of wigs, masks, false-beards, helmets and fighting garments, all of which aroused his keen professional interest.

"It has been a most interesting evening," to me said the playwright as he returned to his hotel, "and I shall always look back upon it with pleasure. I have known something about the Japanese drama, which is filled with poetic ideas, but Chinese dramatic art is new to me. It closely resembles the product of the modern Parisian school."

HONOLULU NATIONAL BANK.

One of the Good Things That Annexation Would Give Us.

An indication of what movement of capital this way would follow annexation is given in the Commercial Gazette of Cincinnati. We quote from the issue of April 7th:

"When the annexation of Hawaii was first proposed, Hon. R. M. Nixon, President of the Fifth National Bank, was Deputy Comptroller of the Currency at Washington. He is a trained and experienced banker, and he saw at once an opportunity which he did not fail to grasp on a jump.

"He filed an application the same day the Hawaiian proposition was made public, asking the privilege of organizing the 'First National Bank of Honolulu.'"

"As the old-time rule, 'First come, first served,' holds good for applications of that sort, Mr. Nixon will probably be at the head of the first American National Bank to be established in the Sandwich Islands. A big bunch of applications came tumbling into the Treasury Department the day after his application had been placed on file as No. 1. There was considerable chagrin among the New York and Eastern bankers when they discovered that a Hoosier financier was ahead of them, and several including a son of Claus Spreckels wanted to go in with him, but Nixon had his company about made up, and among his associates are ex-U. S. Treasurer J. N. Huston and Perry Heath.

"Nothing can be done, of course, until the annexation actually occurs. Then the bank will be established, and it can not but prove a successful venture. Under the present system the banks in Honolulu are all private concerns.

"As President Nixon is now a resident of Cincinnati this city will have the honor of establishing the first American bank on the Sandwich Islands, but Mr. Nixon will not give up his relations with the Fifth National after the Honolulu bank has been organized.

The Poisoning Cases.

"No new developments of any character," was the answer of Marshal Hitchcock when asked regarding the recent poisoning at the barracks. "Investigation is being continued, and there may be, later, some clue secured, but so far there is nothing to indicate such a result."

"Nothing new, not a clue of any sort," exclaimed Colonel Soper in answer to the reporter's question, "but investigation continues unabated just the same."

IN THE COUNCIL.

In the Council to-day the house numbering act took regular course. Colonel Soper reported that a company of sharpshooters would be organized, also that Co. E's uniforms had proved unfit.

A discussion followed and Vice-President Damon recommended that the military committee confer with Col. Soper.

The following bills were passed second reading: An act to amend the tax-law; an act relating to Public Instruction; an act to prohibit steam coasting vessels from carrying passengers suffering from any contagious or infectious disease.

The Act to repeal tax on playing cards was passed first reading.

Hon. W. C. Wilder was appointed on the military committee, and Hon. W. E. Allen on the Foreign Affairs committee.

A claim of a native for $50 damages whose clothes were shot through by a guard, was presented and reference made.

Adjourned.

SOLDIERS OF THE QUEEN.

Live British Soldiers Who Will Be Seen at Chicago.

New York, April 5.—Another World's Fair Chicago exhibit arrived to-day in the shape of six live British soldiers direct from London town. They leave for Chicago by an early train to-morrow, where they are to be exhibited in a series of military tournaments.

These men belong to the English reserve forces, having passed six years in the regular military service of the Queen. They represent the crack cavalry regiments and will give exhibitions of equestrian skill and sword play, in addition to a reproduction of some famous battle scenes from British campaigns in South Africa and Burma. They come by permission of the British Government, but the enterprise is private. They wear regulation red coats and have with them eighty cavalry horses.

SPRECKELS' POSITION.

He Assures President Dole of His Support.

Claus Spreckels called on President Dole at the Foreign Office yesterday and held a long consultation with him regarding the political situation here. Mr. Spreckels assured the President that his position would be one of support to the Provisional Government. He was of the opinion that the Hawaiian Islands could not now return to the monarchical form of government. "I am here in the interests of good government," said Mr. Spreckels, "and shall stay here until the thing is settled." Mr. Spreckels visited President Dole again this morning.

The Flower Queen.

The cantata, "The Flower Queen" to be given on Saturday evening by the young ladies of Kawaiahoku Seminary will be a charming entertainment. Nothing has been left undone to make it a musical and artistic success. Miss Dale, the Misses Parker and Nolte, Mrs. E. C. Damon, Miss von Holt, Miss Rhodes, Miss Ward and others will take part. The object of the entertainment is charitable.

Not Mr. Hastings.

An error in yesterday's STAR attributed to Chief Clerk Hastings of the Foreign Office a statement about the appointments to be made at Washington and San Francisco, which that gentleman did not make. The information given came from another source the nature of which the reporter misunderstood.

Three Months Yet.

An officer of the Boston says that the ship may be here three months yet as it will await the arrival, on the California coast, of the four modern cruisers which will head that way after the Columbian review.

A Scandal.

As we go to press it is learned that a shortage exists in the accounts of the Custom House.

MARINE NOTES.

The Alice Cook sailed this morning for the coast laden with sugar. The Olga will probably sail some time this evening.

The Kaala transferred 1325 bags of sugar to the Sonoma to-day and the James Makee is unloading to the Andrew Welch.

The Andrew Welch will probably finish loading with sugar this week and sail for the coast Monday. The steamers Likie and Hawaii due since Tuesday have 800 tons of sugar for her, about 100 tons short of a load, but there is plenty of sugar due to fill her holds.

The Hilo will begin loading immediately the Welch is full, and to that end has hauled along the Inter Island wharf.

The Pele will go on the marine railway to-morrow afternoon to have her bottom scraped.

The James Makee arrived from Kapaa this morning with 12 deck passengers and 2,550 bags of sugar. The sugar is being transferred to the Andrew Welch. At 4 o'clock the Makee sails again for Kapaa.

The Iwalani came in this morning from Kauai with 4,684 bags of sugar, and the following passengers: cabin, Mrs. V. Knudsen, T. D. Graham, Wm. Howie, M. J. Pereira, Miss Sorensen, Mrs. Oskey, Mr. Wolf, M. Gonsalves, Jr., and three deck.
